The city of Dnipro (former Dnipropetrovsk) or Dnepr (Rus.) is situated on the Dnieper River (Dnepr or Dniro) in East-Central Ukraine, and has a population of 1 million (third city in the country by population). Large and beautiful, it is the main city of East-Central Ukraine. The city is surprising green along the wide and slow-moving Dnieper river (Dnepr in Russian, Dniro in Ukrainian) and has remarkable embankments, long boulevards and spacious parks.

It is also the major centre of high-technology industries, education, machine-building, metallurgy and trade. The city is not only famous for its commercial industry, but also its green hills and deep history.

The old fortress settlement has existed since the middle of the 16th century. The new town was founded in 1776 by the Russian Prince, Potemkin by order of Catherine II, Empress of the Russian Empire and was called Yekaterinoslav (Ekaterinoslav) from 1776 to 1926. During 1918 the town's name was Sicheslav (The Glory for Sich/Fortress of Cossacks).
